What does "Corners Handicap" mean?

Corners Handicap involves a stronger team giving the weaker team an advantage of corner kicks.

Corners handicap involves either subtracting corner kicks from the stronger team's actual match corner kicks OR adding the same number of corner kicks to the weaker team's actual match corners. Your team of choice must have more corners than the other team after either adding or subtracting the number of corner kicks for you to win the bet.

E.g

Corners Handicap

Manchester United -4.5/+4.5 West Bromwich Albion

This simply means you either subtract 5 corner kicks from Manchester United's corner kicks OR you add 5 corner kicks to West Bromwich Albion's corner kicks.

Lets say you place a bet of corners handicap on the match stated above with your choice being Manchester United.

Condition 1

This simply means after subtracting 5 corner kicks from Manchester United's total corner kicks, Man Utd must still have more corners than West Bromwich Albion.

OR

Condition 2

After adding 5 corner kicks to West Bromwich Albion's total corner kicks, Man Utd must still have more corners than West Bromwich Albion.

Both conditions stated above must be met for you to win that bet if your choice team is Manchester United.

BUT if your choice team is West Bromwich Albion, both conditions stated below must be for you to win the bet.

Condition 1

After subtracting 5 corner kicks from Manchester United's total corner kicks, West Bromwich Albion must still have more corners than Manchester United.

Condition 2

After adding 5 corner kicks to West Bromwich Albion's total corner kicks, West Bromwich Albion must still have more corners than Manchester United.
